And Then What Happened, Paul Revere? Vocabulary: Silversmith is a compound noun that means a person who creates things made of silver. That means they melt silver and use molds to shape it, and it cools to a solid that can be polished and used. Paul Revere was a silversmith .	And Then What Happened, Paul Revere? Vocabulary: Tax is a noun that means an amount of money that you pay to the government every time you buy or do something. The government uses this money to provide services. Taxes were a big issue in colonial times because the colonists were paying the taxes to the English, but they didn't think that they were getting any services.	And Then What Happened, Paul Revere? Vocabulary Express is an adjective that means special and fast. You could have an express shipment from UPS or Federal Express—that means you could get something sent in just one day. You have to pay more money to have something shipped express .	And Then What Happened, Paul Revere? Vocabulary: Mission is a noun that means a special assignment where you have to travel for some reason. Churches sometimes send people on missions to other countries. Spies go on missions to find secrets. Those mission S are secret.	And Then What Happened, Paul Revere? Vocabulary: Review this week's words: prohibited, silversmith, property, tax, express, mission.
